What different behaviours are needed in different types of teams?

How does Google provide a winning formula for teamwork?

How do you engage your teams to want to deliver their best?

How can you ensure your teams deliver results more quickly?

If you are interested in these questions then this is a great opportunity for you to take some time to think about how we can help teams engage better with each other, work more effectively and deliver better results. One of our clients, Mike Howard, Head of Alternatives at Prudential Portfolio Management Group, will be discussing how we have worked with them to develop successful team-working in a number of their teams.

Robert and Rosemary look forward to seeing you. 07930 390089
